Podsumowanie oferty

Engine Programmer

Remote

We are looking for an Engine Programmer to join the great team. Do you want to work with the bleeding edge of game, simulation, and modeling technology? Let's start the journey!

Role and Responsibilities:

- Develop, design, and implement high-quality code to deliver cutting edge features for flagship products,
- Profile and optimize engine technologies,
- Review and provide feedback on technical designs and code written by other engine developers,
- Contribute to advancing the rendering system to better exploit modern rendering hardware and APIs,
- Work in a team-oriented environment closely together with the other departments to help advance our products.

Skills and Requirements:

- Experience in Engine programming (Unreal 2+ years / Unity 4+ years),
- Strong C++ knowledge and experience,
- Knowledge of real-time rendering and the associated techniques within the field,
- Good communication skills in English.

Nice to have:

- Thorough knowledge of both the GPU and CPU,
- Experience with procedural worlds and systems,
- Knowledge of content creation & common DCC packages.

Benefits:

- Flexible working hours,
- Possibility of fully remote work,
- Health insurance and sports benefits card,
- Individual fundings for trainings and development,
- Competitive compensation package,
- Long term product and development goals rather than focus on individual product titles,
- Exciting technical challenges, working with state-of-the-art technologies and methods,
- Development targeted on high end systems,
- Working with an International Team with broad expertise in numerous fields.
